

Income Tax Claims for Slavery Reparations Are a Scam

Don't let anyone tell you that you can get an income tax refund or a tax credit as reparations for slavery.

There is no such thing.

If you pay someone to file a federal income tax return to get reparations—you will lose what you paid and you will get NO refund.

African-Americans are being tricked into filing slavery reparations claims for $40,000 to $80,000.

The only persons profiting from filing such claims are the promoters. Don't be one of their victims.

If you allow such a claim to be filed in your name, you could be fined $500 by the Internal Revenue Service, especially if you refuse to withdraw the claim or file more than one claim.

There is no tax law that provides that African-Americans get tax credits or refunds related to slavery reparations.
